Dear Brent:

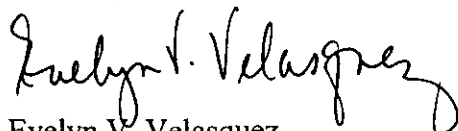

Leadership Houston greatly appreciates your participation in our Third Annual Leadership Briefing at the James A. Baker III Institute for Public Policy. We were honored to have you take time from your busy schedule to moderate these discussions.

Those in attendance left with a clearer understanding of the economic picture from both a local and global perspective. The information provided enabled us to be better-informed leaders.

Each year, Leadership Houston, which is primarily funded by its members, selects a class of emerging leaders who are trained throughout the year to better understand and address the complex issues facing the Houston area. Class members are selected based on their involvement and commitment to their communities.

Brent,

Thank you very much for all your support in launching my radio show marketing program. You and your staff have done a great job helping me turn this effort into a very productive project.

The early results have been surprising to say the least. For the first three weeks we averaged fifteen requests for more information on our show's topics with more than twenty calls coming in during our last half-hour show. Our expectations for response to this point have been reached and surpassed by 100%.

Thank you again for making me a part of your lineup and for providing a marketing platform that works.

Sincerely,

Dear Moose:

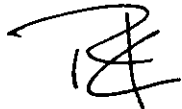

From the first day we were asked to come on board and host a program on Business Radio 650AM we have received nothing but first rate support from you, Brent Clanton, and Mike Schneider, and for that we continue to thank you and hope to add value to your station. Recently I came across some data that supports what you are doing and in short order have already done with your station, and I wanted to share it with you.

The feedback we have received from our Saturday morning show, "Market Moves" has been tremendous and even taken us by surprise in terms of the amount of people tuning in. We were optimistic, but even our elevated expectations have been surpassed. We have been asked by several local and national business owners if they could advertise during our show because of the high quality demographics that we draw (talking about money for two hours seems to do that). We have passed these contacts to Mr. Schneider and fully expect to continue making referrals.

The recent data that shocked us was the number of different people in different areas that have been listening. We were asked to come out to a few locations around town to explain in greater detail that our call-in show would allow the forecasts we have on the stock market. To gauge the level of interest, we had listeners call in and tell us what area they wanted us to come to. Moose, in only a couple of months worth of feedback we have already received requests from 116 different zip codes.

Granted this is unscientific data, but it is clear to me now why advertisers have been so interested in joining the Business Radio 650AM team. Please do not hesitate to have any potential client of yours contact us as a reference and we would be happy to share with them our experiences.

All the Best,

Ryan J. Krueger

Dear Mr. Clanton,

I am a senior student here at H.S.P.V.A and I am in the music department. Our school is the only high school in Houston recognized for being both talented in the arts as well as being very smart academically. As a senior I am pressured to figure out what I want to do in life after high school.

In the spring semester of our school I am interested in having you come and speak to my computer class about what it is you do. You should talk about the real world outside of school, and talk about how hard it is to make it in the world if you don't stay focused. I am sure that anything you talk about to my class and me will be sufficient.

I would like to thank you for considering my offer and I hope to see you soon. If you have any question or concerns about this matter I can be contacted at 281-261-5625, or you can e-mail me at bleejazz01@yahoo.com.

Candidates in City Council District 'H' Run-Off Race
to Speak Directly to Hispanics

Houston, Texas, -- This weekend, Adrián García and Diana Dávila Martínez, the candidates in the Houston upcoming City Council District H, December 6 run-off election, will speak directly to Hispanic voters on a special edition of Univision's community affairs program, Nuestra Vida. The program will air Saturday, November 22 at 9:30 a.m. on Univision's Channel 45 and Sunday, November 23 at 5:30 a.m. on Telefutura's Channel 67.

García and Dávila Martínez have also agreed to speak to Hispanic voters by appearing on Univision Radio's La Voz del Pueblo, which airs weekdays at 1 p.m. on KLAT 1010 La Tremenda. García is scheduled to appear on Tuesday, December 2 and Dávila Martínez on Thursday, December 4.

These two television and radio programs are part of the NALEO Educational Fund's Voces del Pueblo voter mobilization effort. The Fund's campaign provides low propensity Hispanic voters the rudimentary elements and information necessary to integrate into the American political process.

García, a twenty-three year veteran of the Houston Police Department and Director of the Mayor's Anti-Gang Office since 1999, said that engaging the Spanish-speaking community is very important because it "promotes community awareness and encourages good citizenship". Similarly, Dávila Martínez, who was the first Hispanic female from Harris County elected to the Texas state legislature, said, "educating the community and inviting them to participate in the political process has always been a priority in my life as a public servant".

In the November 4th General Election, García received 38% and Dávila Martínez 34% of the votes, from a race that included four other candidates. In such instances, a run-off election is needed because no candidate garnered the fifty percent plus one vote needed to win a position in the city government. District H is one of nine single-member districts in the city council and one of two districts where Hispanics constitute the majority of the population. Currently, Council Member Gabriel Vasquez, who instead of seeking a third term to this position sought the City Controller's office, represents District H.

The NALEO Educational Fund is the leading non-profit civic education organization that empowers Latinos to participate fully in the American political process, from citizenship to public service.

Highlights of 2003 at AAMA and the Sanchez School

- In July 2003, AAMA opened its Washington D.C. As the Hispanic population in the U.S. explodes, AAMA strives to fill the need for a voice that is in touch with the roots and needs of its community. Our new home in our nation's capital offers a heightened visibility and the ability to positively affect legislation that will benefit the communities we strive to serve.
- In August 2003, AMMA's George I Sanchez Charter High School was featured nationally, on Univision Network for its ongoing efforts to give at-risk students a second chance at achieving their dreams through innovative support programs such as free day care, night high, advanced computer technology training, ESL, special education, credit recovery and more.
- George I Sanchez ' home bound teacher program was also featured nationally on Telemundo Network for going the extra mile in providing special home schooling services for youth who are unable to attend school due to illness or having an infant.
- AAMA was recognized in Hispanic Journal for our early college high school initiative, funded through The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. This program promises to make higher education more accessible, affordable and attractive by bridging the divide between high school and college in a physical space.
- AAMA's Adelante Adult Education program opened a third campus in North Houston. AAMA Adelante continues to be the largest adult literacy program in Houston, resulting in twice as many successful outcomes versus other Houston non-profit providers.
- Our Health and Human service program is now the largest social service provider in the state, offering 25 programs that help more than 25,000 people.

Dear Mr. Masepohl:

The purpose of my letter is to request Renzo Heredia, Host of LA VOZ DEL PUEBLO, to moderate an upcoming press conference at the Mexican Consulate on Tuesday October 14, 2003 at 10:00 a.m. At the press conference, the "Justice & Equality in the Workplace" initiative will be announcing its new members and will launching its third year initiative called, "Justicia e Igualdad en el Empleo por Todos". This initiative is a non traditional partnership aimed at educating the Hispanic community on their rights in the workplace. I have attached a paper further describing the partnership.

In furtherance of the purposes and goals of this effort, our Investigator Rebecca Del Barrio, EEOC Deputy Director Javier Chacon, OSHA Deputy Joe Reyna, and Benito Juarez of the City of Houston Immigration and Refugee Office have been on Mr. Heredia's radio program advising the Hispanic community of the various labor laws. As a result of our participation in this radio program several cases have been referred to the various partners for assistance. We have enjoyed a productive relationship with Mr. Heredia and consider him a friend to the partnership.

Mr. Heredia's role would be to introduce the partnership and moderate the press conference. This press conference is not expected to last more than one hour.

Your consideration of this request is greatly appreciated. If you have any questions, please feel free to call me at 713/339-5580.

Sincerely,

Developing Local Partnerships: Houston's Experience

"Justice and Equality in the Workplace"

A Non-Traditional Approach

In Houston, Texas, an innovative new approach to educate low-income populations is meeting with outstanding success. In July 2001, the "Justice and Equality in the Workplace" effort was launched with a press conference held at the Consulate of Mexico in Houston. This endeavor brings together governmental and private agencies to conjointly reach out to the burgeoning Hispanic population in the area.

The initial partners in this effort were the Mexican Consulate, the U.S. Department of Labor (Wage & Hour Division), the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), the Houston Mayor's Office on Immigrant Refugee Affairs, and the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund (MALDEF). The partners' signed an agreement, stating as its ultimate purpose to eradicate unfair labor and discriminatory practice in the Latino community. The initiative is designed to assist the Latino to become educated as to their rights while working in the United States, regardless of their immigration status.

Additional partners in this effort are the U.S. Department of Labor – Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA), the AFL-CIO (Harris County) the Galveston-Houston Catholic Diocese/Office of Justice and Peace, the Catholic Campaign for Human Development, and the local branch of the National Interfaith Committee for Worker Justice. Following the lead of the Mexican Consulate, the Consulates of Guatemala, El Salvador, and Columbia have joined the partnership.

Billboards: A local business contributor to the efforts has been Clear Channel Communication who has generously provided free or at-cost billboards through the Latino residential section of Houston. Through the use of these billboards, and with extensive local media coverage, the government enforcement agencies are beginning to be seen as a viable resource for members of this community.

Education/Outreach: The partnership has provided education to more than 600 front-line workers of advocacy programs. The training was provided in both English and Spanish to advocates, most of who work for faith-based agencies.

The partnership has created a videotape presentation on workers' rights. This video, with music by the popular Latino group, "Los Tigres' del Norte", plays continuously in the lobby of the Mexican Consulate where it can be viewed by up to 500 visitors each work day.

Hotline: The Mexican Consulate's Protections Unit telephone number appears on all the partnership's printed materials and is most often given as a resource number for media exposure on the partnership. The Protections Unit has been trained by the partners, fields all telephone calls, and forwards the callers' information to the appropriate agencies.

Results: During the 23 months of the partnership the Wage & Hour Division of the USDOL has returned almost 600 telephone calls prompted directly by the partnership's education efforts. The Division has found due more than $1.3 million to 2,033 low-wage workers. The EEOC has filed more than 160 cases of discrimination.

The partnership members meet every month to plan for expanded efforts and more creative means by which to get the word to workers on their rights. They look forward to the expansion and growth of this effort in future years in Houston.

The USDOL, Wage & Hour Division, has replicated this partnership in Dallas and Las Vegas and plans are in progress to expand the program to four additional cities.

For additional information about the partnership contact Ms. Betty Campbell at 713 339-5500.

Candidates in City Council District 'H' Run-Off Race
to Speak Directly to Hispanics

Houston, Texas, -- This weekend, Adrián García and Diana Dávila Martínez, the candidates in the Houston upcoming City Council District H, December 6 run-off election, will speak directly to Hispanic voters on a special edition of Univision's community affairs program, Nuestra Vida. The program will air Saturday, November 22 at 9:30 a.m. on Univision's Channel 45 and Sunday, November 23 at 5:30 a.m. on Telefutura's Channel 67.

García and Dávila Martínez have also agreed to speak to Hispanic voters by appearing on Univision Radio's La Voz del Pueblo, which airs weekdays at 1 p.m. on KLAT 1010 La Tremenda. García is scheduled to appear on Tuesday, December 2 and Dávila Martínez on Thursday, December 4.

These two television and radio programs are part of the NALEO Educational Fund's Voces del Pueblo voter mobilization effort. The Fund's campaign provides low propensity Hispanic voters the rudimentary elements and information necessary to integrate into the American political process.

García, a twenty-three year veteran of the Houston Police Department and Director of the Mayor's Anti-Gang Office since 1999, said that engaging the Spanish-speaking community is very important because it "promotes community awareness and encourages good citizenship". Similarly, Dávila Martínez, who was the first Hispanic female from Harris County elected to the Texas state legislature, said, "educating the community and inviting them to participate in the political process has always been a priority in my life as a public servant".

'In the November 4th General Election, García received 38% and Dávila Martínez 34% of the votes, from a race that included four other candidates. In such instances, a run-off election is needed because no candidate garnered the fifty percent plus one vote needed to win a position in the city government. District H is one of nine single-member districts in the city council and one of two districts where Hispanics constitute the majority of the population. Currently, Council Member Gabriel Vasquez, who instead of seeking a third term to this position sought the City Controller's office, represents District H.

Dear Mr. Hernandez,

On behalf of LULAC in Houston, we would like to express our sincere gratitude for your on going support and your promotion of this year's Cinco de Mayo Parade.

Thanks to your promotional efforts, the parade and past parade activities were very successful allowing us to continue to serve the Houston Hispanic Community.

We are especially appreciative not only for the PSA's but also for having Mary Closner, a LULAC member, on the Dan Segura Sunday show. Also, thank you for taking the time out of your busy schedule to serve as judge of the parade floats.

As you are aware, the growing number of Tejano listeners in the Houston and surrounding areas warrants an FM station which would reach out to more listeners.

We look forward to working with Hispanic Broadcasting Corporation in the future and consider you a vital asset to the community.

And of course, we want to thank you as well for your commitment and involvement with the Hispanic Community. It was a pleasure having you serve as one of the Cinco de Mayo Parade Judge's.

Pre-Written Questions

(Each candidate should be asked 5 of the 6 questions on this list.) Spanish translation is in italics.

1. One of the challenges for a growing city like Houston is to meet the changing needs for public transportation. If elected mayor of Houston, what is your vision for the future of mass transit in Houston considering slimming budgets and the need to keep Houstonians moving?

Uno de los retos para una ciudad metropolitana como Houston es desarrollar un sistema de transporte público efectivo. ¿ Si es elegido para el puesto de alcalde, cual es su visión para el futuro de un sistema público de transporte tomando en cuenta la limitación de recursos?

2. Given the current budget crisis we are experiencing statewide and Houston in particular, what is your strategy for balancing the budget and maintaining services and program for Houstonians?

¿Tomando en cuenta la crisis financiera que enfrenta el estado de Texas y Houston en particular, cual es su estrategia para balancear el presupuesto y a la vez mantener los servicios y programas necesarios para los residentes de Houston?

3. In light of decreased resources, proposals have arisen that one way to alleviate the budget crunch is by furloughing police officers and firemen, meaning giving them unpaid time off. With less officers and firemen on duty during such a critical time with our nation's security, what does this mean for public safety?

Siguiendo con el tema de menos recursos, algunos han surgido que una manera de aliviar la crisis financiera es reduciendo las horas de trabajo a los policías y bomberos. ¿Con menos policías y bomberos vigilando la seguridad de nuestra ciudad, especialmente considerando el estado de seguridad nacional, que significa esto para la seguridad pública de Houston?

4. With the recent completion of the new basketball arena, Reliant Park, and Minute Maid Park, in your opinion, what role should the Sports Authority take now that the projects for which it was created have been completed?

La construcción de la nueva arena de baloncesto marca la conclusión del proyecto buscando construir tres estadios deportivos en Houston. ¿En su opinión, cual papel debe tomar el departamento deportivo(Sports Authority) ahora que las metas por la cual fue creada han sido completadas?

5. Hispanic owned businesses are among the fastest growing in the City of Houston. As mayor, what would you propose to continue to stimulate and support this important segment of the business community that contributes to the strength of the local economy?

Negocios Hispanos están creciendo a un nivel muy rápido en la ciudad de Houston. ¿Si es elegido para el puesto de alcalde, que propone para asegurar que este segmento de la comunidad empresaria siga creciendo y contribuyendo a la economía local de Houston?

6. Year after year, the effects of flooding devastate Houstonians. In particular, the system of pipes that is used to move the water out of the city is not adequately equipped to handle the volume of water that a typical storm creates. Instead, water is backlogged in the system creating flooding and health hazards such as mosquito infestation. What must be done now to alleviate the burden this creates year after year on resident, but more importantly, what needs to be done long term to update Houston's outdated flood management infrastructure?

Año tras año, los efectos de inundación afectan a nuestra ciudad. En particular, el sistema de pipas que usamos para mover la agua fuera de la ciudad no está equipada adecuadamente para manejar el volumen de agua que es creada por una tormenta típica. Es mas, la agua se atrasa en el sistema creando inundación y peligros para la salud como la infestación de mosquitos. ¿Que necesitamos hacer para aliviar este problema que es creado año tras año, pero aun más importante, que necesitamos hacer al largo plazo para modernizar la infraestructura del sistema de inundación de Houston?

Each candidate should be given the equal time to respond to each question. Should you have any questions please feel free to contact us at (713) 228-6400.

Thank you.
